Response to Election

Applicant's election with traverse of Species A in the reply filed on 4-12-2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the terms "bone velocity" and "acoustic velocity in bone" are the same. This is not found persuasive because bone velocity taken literally means the velocity of a bone, and acoustic velocity in bone is the velocity of a sound vibration in a bone. If the terms are one and the same, then the claim language should be consistent.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. There is no antecedent basis for "the jopint" in claim

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-11, 14-21, and 50-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Berger(U.S.Pat.5,806,520) in view of Higo et al.(U.S.Pat.4,819,753). Berger discloses a method and device for evaluating and characterizing the properties of bones that shows many of the features of the claimed invention but fails to show first second bones as being analyzed with respect to the velocity of a sound wave through bone. Higo discloses a functional evaluation device that shows analyzing the acoustics of two bones. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the claimed invention to use two bone measurements as taught by Higo with the device of Berger so the joint between two bones can be analyzed.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 12-13 and 22-30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Weinstein, Scanlon and Whitney are cited to show structure similar to the claimed invention.
